»Heidelberger Frühling« 2020 cancelled

With the greatest regret the music festival "Heidelberger Frühling" announces today that the events planned from 21.03. to 24.04. have to be cancelled. This decision follows from a corresponding general decree issued by the city of Heidelberg to take action against the spread of the coronavirus in the city and region.

Festival director Thorsten Schmidt: "We had hoped until the last minute that we would be able to hold the festival as planned and at the same time comply with the protective measures for our audience and the artists as ordered in Germany. We can no longer reliably guarantee this protection. The internationality of the arriving artists, ensembles and guests includes the danger of accelerating the spread of the virus. Furthermore, the multitude of contact possibilities poses a threat to a part of our audience, but also to the artistic guests. On the basis of a general decree of the city of Heidelberg, we must cancel the planned events of the 2020 Heidelberger Frühling with the greatest regret."

Tickets already purchased will be fully refunded. Information on this will be available soon on the Heidelberger Frühling website at www.heidelberger-fruehling.de.
